Roger Sullivan, Former Engineer, Disabled in World War, Successful in Camera Work.

The fact that he was an engineer before the war may help him to understand the mechanism of a motion picture camera, but the knowledge of proper lighting effects and other things incident to the successful production of motion pictures had to be learned by Roger Sullivan, after he was seriously disabled in the World War.

Sullivan was wounded while operating with the United States forces in France. After the war, Sullivan found that his injuries were such that he could not successfully carry on as an engineer. Under the supervision of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, he started a school of photography in New York and has since followed a course in motion picture making and "still" photography.

The INDIAN DRUM

by William MacHarg and Edwin Balmer

—16—

"What is it you want to know?"

Sherrill asked.

"What were the relations between

Benjamin Corvet and Captain Staff-ford?"

"Sherrill thought a moment.

"Corvet," he replied, "was a very able man; he had insight and he had grasp; and he had the faculty which some men possess, a consistency of action. Stafford was an able man too, considerably younger than Corvet.

Twenty years ago, when the conflict of competing interests was at its height, Corvet was the head of one line, Stafford was head of another, and the two lines had very much the same connections and competed for the same carries."

"I begin to see," Father Perron exclaimed. "Please go on."

"In the early nineties both lines still were young," Stafford said. "I believe two ships; Corvet had three."

"So few? Yes; it grows plainer!"

"In 1894, Stafford managed a stroke which, if fate had not intervened, must have assured the ultimate extinction of Corvet's line or its absorption into Stafford's. Stafford gained as his partner

Franklin Ramsdell, a wealthy man whom he had convinced that the lake traffic offered chances of great profit; and this connection supplied him with the capital whose lack had been hampering him, as it was still hampering Corvet. The new firm—Stafford and Ramsdell—projected the construction with Ramsdell's money, of a number of great steel freighters. The first of these—the Stafford, a test ship whose experience was to guide them in the construction of the rest—was launched in the fall of 1895, and was lost on its maiden trip with both Stafford and Ramsdell aboard. The Stafford and Ramsdell interests could not survive the death of both owners and disappeared from the lakes. Is this what you wanted to know?"

The priest nodded. Alan feared tensely forward, watching; what he had heard seemed to have increased and deepened the priest's feeling over what he had to tell and to have added his comprehension of it.

"His name was Caleb Stafford," Father Perron began. "This is what Benjamin Corvet told me when he was dying under the workhouse on the ferry. 'He was as fair and able a man as the lakes ever knew. I had my will of most men in the lake trade in those days; but I could not have my will of him. With all the lakes to trade in, he had to pick out for his traffic which I already had chosen for my own. But I caught him fair, Father. I caught him fair, and I made him continue to do that to the end."

"I was at Manitowish, Father, in the end of the season—December fifth of 1895. The ice had begun to form very early that year and was already bad; there was cold and a high gale. I had laid up one of my ships at Manitowish, and I was crossing that night upon a tug to Manitowish, where another was to be laid up. I had still a third one loading up on the northern peninsula at Manitowish for a last trip which, if it could be made, would mean a good profit from a season which so far, because of Stafford's competition, had been only fair. After leaving Manitoowish, it grew still more cold and I was afraid the ice would close in on me and keep her where she was, so I decided to go north that night and that she got out. None knew, Father, except those aboard the tug, that I had made that change."

"At Manitowish, Father, to westward of the Foxes, we heard the four blasts of a steamer in distress—the four long blasts which have sounded in my soul ever since. We turned toward where we saw the steamer's lights; we went neither and, Father, it was his great ship—the Stafford! We had heard two days before that she had passed the Soo; we had not known more than that of where she was. She had broken her new shaft, Father, and was intact except for that, but helpless in the rising sea.

The priest broke off. "The Stafford!

I did not understand all that that meant to him until I, now—the new ship of the rival line, whose building for his failure and defeat."

"There is no higher duty than the rescue of those in peril at sea. He Benjamin Corvet, who told me this—swore to me that, at the beginning none upon the tug had any thought except to give aid. A small line of hawsers was attached which the hauled aboard. There happened then the first of those events which led those upon the tug into doing a great wrong. He—Benjamin Corvet—had taken charge of the wheel of the tug; three men were binding the hawsers in ice and washing water at the stern.

The whistle accidentally blew, which those on the Stafford understood to mean that the hawser had been secured, so they drew in the slack; the hawsers, tightened unexpectedly by the pitching of the sea, caught and crushed the captain and deckhand of the tug and threw them into the sea.

"Because they were short-handed now upon the tug, and also because consultation was necessary over what was to be done, the young owner of the Stafford, Captain Stafford, came down the hawser onto the tug after the line had been put straight. He came to the wheelhouse, where Benjamin Corvet was, and they consulted. Then Benjamin Corvet, leaping that the other owner was aboard the new ship, as well—Ramsdell—the man whose money you have just told me had built seeing, and that our word that it had been broken would have as much strength as any accusation Stafford could make. He had known that to share a secret such as that with me would "make" him on the lakes; for the loss of the Stafford would cripple

Stafford and Ramsdell and strengthen me; and he could make me share with him whatever I made. But Stafford had surprised him at the hawser and had seen.

"I moved to denounce him, Father, as I realized this; I moved—but stopped. He had made himself safe against accusation by me! None—none ever would believe that he had done this except by my order, if he should claim that; and he made plain that he was going to claim that. He called me a fool and defied me. Luke —even my own man, the only one left on the tug with us—believed it! And there was murder in it now, with Staff-ford dying there upon the deck and with the certainty that all those on the Stafford could not be saved. I felt the goose as if it had been at ready to leap about my neck! And I had done no wrong, Father! I had only thought wrong."

"So long as one lived among those on the Stafford who had seen what was done, I knew I would be hanging. I would have saved them if I could.

But, in my comprehension of what this meant, I only stared at Stafford where he lay and then at Spearman.

The tug, whose wheel I had twisted, leading her into the waves, had been moving slowly. Spearman pushed me aside and went to the wheelhouse; he said Luke to the engines, and from that moment Luke was his. He turned the tug about to where we still saw the lights of the Stafford. The steam had stuck upon the reef, she hung there for a time; and Spearman—he had the wheel and Luke, at his orders, was at the engines—kept the tug off and we went slowly to and fro in all the Stafford slipped off and sank.

Some had come down with her, carrying lights. They saw the tug approaching and cried out and stretched their hands to us; but Spearman stopped the tug. They cowered toward us then, but when they got near, Spearman moved the tug away from them.

Note these New Prices on U.S. Tires

On July 29, 1922, the lowest prices ever quoted on U.S. Passenger Car Tires went into effect—Royal Cords included. These new prices should give confidence to dealers and car owners that no lower basis of quality tire prices will prevail.

Bear in mind that these prices apply to the most complete line of quality tires in the world. Remember, too—as you read the following table—that U. S. quality has been positively maintained.

SIZES	Black Cord	Stubby	Cham	Uco	Plain

The dealer with a full line of U. S. Tires at these new prices can serve you better than you have ever been served before in the history of the automobile.

If there ever was any fancied advantage in shopping around for tires it disappeared on July 29, 1922.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1922.

A NUMBER of reports have come to the AVALANCHE office of boys damaging street and road signs, and frequently other persons with guns and rifles about signs. These signs are placed about the streets and highways for the convenience of the public and are to be respected. The State laws say that signs placed along the road shall not be removed, and anyone violating said law shall be arrested by the police and imprisoned. Any boy who dares to go to the road signs and damage them, and has not better sense than to do so, should be sent to the reform school, where he may be taught to respect the property of others and of society.

The boys who have not been taught the right principles of behavior and who do not care for the signs, should be sent to the reform school, where they can be taught the right principles of behavior and where they can be taught to respect the property of others and of society.

SOLDIERS LOSE BALL GAMES

Grayling Wins Two Close Games
From 107th Motorcycle Company.

The 107th Motorcycle Company, which is known as "M. D. and G. Grayling" sent their baseball team into Grayling from the Military camp, last Saturday and Sunday for games with the local team.

Saturday the game opened with the local team, but they were out of the game in the first inning. The local team was a pitcher and a couple of years ago at Houghton in the Upper Peninsula pitched a 10 inning game, winning his own game with a home run. He seemed at home on the mound, but the local team was out of the game in the first inning.

The ball started flying in the first inning after Smith and Myers were out. "Babe" Lippert walked and stole second. W. Lippert next up, doubled, and stole second. The local team was out of the game in the first inning.

SAME OLD STORY BUT A GOOD ONE. Mrs. Mabel Burns, Savana, Mo., writes: "I have experienced the life of a soldier in almost every war that has been fought in this country, and I have been told and related by thousands of soldiers that the life of a soldier is a life of suffering and pain."

CAUSE OF APPENDICITIS. When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestine become inflamed, and this is the cause of appendicitis. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it.

and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles.

President Geo. Burke of the Grayling Auto club reports that he has 350 road signs ready for placing in their proper places. This is much needed service to the public and we are sure the traveling public will praise the local association for their thoughtfulness and good service. They need a lot of road signs; the more that are put up the better. If ever a person has had the privilege of riding over the country and gets on to a highway that is not known to them, then the distant appearing road sign with its arrow pointing to somewhere is a blessing indeed, and how thankful one feels toward the person who placed it there. Thanks, George, let the good work go on. Such service has its reward, and the Automobile Association is proving its worth.

"You'd think it was expensive ceramic tile"

"MY UPSON-Fibre-Tile always keeps spotlessly white, clean and beautiful. Not like the ordinary imitation tiles--that crack, tear, loosen, crumble or yellow!"

"Its waterproofed surface is enameled like wood, and it is so strong, stiff and hard that it will last for years. Cheap imitations cannot give Upson service."

"My Upson-Fibre-Tiled kitchen and bathroom cost only one-tenth as much as real tile."

Avoid rough, soft, spongy imitations. They haven't half as many years of life as Upson, and cost much more to enamel. The little difference in price cannot measure the big difference in quality.

LOCAL STUDIO MAKES FINE RECORD.

One of the busiest places in Grayling during the encampment of the National Guard has been the Wingard Photo Studio. They didn't make much fuss getting ready but when the troops arrived they were on hand with a battery of cameras from the small commercial size to the large panoramic which reached out and took in everything within a wide area. Mr. Wingard was assisted by his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gates, who conduct studios at Clare and E. J. Wasson of Bay City. From the first click of the cameras until the last consignments of soldiers left the camp the Wingard studio was a hive of industry.

Here is a list of the work that was produced by them: Nine hundred panoramic pictures size 8 inches wide and from 2 1/2 to 3 feet in length; over 1000 post card pictures, and 5000 amateur prints, besides the usual amount of photo business this place enjoys.

All the work from the developing to the finished work was done in that place. Besides this, orders for pictures had to be secured and delivered and collections made, and not one order was cancelled nor a single delivery missed. This group of artists worked day and night to accomplish their task and we believe have established a record seldom reached by a studio of similar size. All work is done by electricity which assures better quality and greatly added capacity.

TWO SNAPPY BASE BALL GAMES

GRAYLING CYCLOPS TOO MUCH FOR SOLDIERS.

LOCAL NEWS

Evidently there was no soldier or soldier enough to defeat Grayling as in the four games played with the boys were in camp, the Grayling Cyclops carried away the honors of the series, winning all four games.

Last Saturday and Sunday the 12th Infantry accompanied by their famous band and a bunch of rooters invaded the ball park and they witnessed their champions go down to defeat Saturday by a score of 4 to 7 and Sunday 4 to 1. "Babe" Laurent pitched both games for the locals and did remarkable work. In the Saturday game he pitched along in an easy gain, his team mates getting 18 hits and a run so that he had everything his arms and legs and did not have to work hard to win. In this way he saved himself for the following day when it was again up to him to fill the position on the mound. And in the first game he pitched the bases on a three hit and an error when the fielder back would throw over the 3rd base line. The soldiers used the pitchers but were unable to stop the runs of the "heavy-hitters".

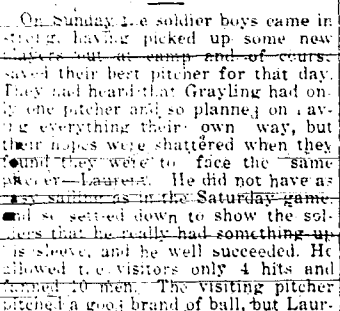

The score by innings for the Saturday game was as follows:
1st Inf. 4 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 7 3
Grayling 1 3 0 0 2 0 2 1 9 18
Batteries: for Grayling, Laurent and Johnson; for 12th Infantry, Lusk and Westerhof.

Base on balls—off Laurent 2; off Lusk 1; off Westerhof 1.
Three base hits, B. Laurent, W. Laurent, Keister.
Stolen bases: B. Laurent 1; W. Laurent 2; Johnson 2; Doroh 1.
Base hits: B. Laurent 1; Johnson 1.
Errors: Palmer and Manning.
Sunday Game.

On Sunday the soldier boys came in strong, having picked up some new pitchers but at camp end of course, saved their best pitcher for that day. They had heard that Grayling had one of the best pitchers on an average everything their own way, but their hopes were shattered when they found they were to face the same pitcher—Laurent. He did not have as easy sailing as in the Saturday game and he settled down to show the soldiers that he really had something up his sleeve, and he well succeeded. He showed the visitors only 4 hits and allowed no runs. The visiting pitcher pitched a good brand of ball, but Laurent knew how to pitch air-tight ball when his heart was in it. Grayling was the first to score making 2 runs in the 1st inning, while the soldiers came back with one in the 7th, only to have the home team score 2 more in the 8th inning, putting the game beyond their reach. Grayling gathered in 9 hits and did some good all-around playing in the bases and in the field, and the visitors as well did some nice fielding work. It was one of the most interesting games played on the home grounds this season, and the fans were given many thrills. The selections by the 12th band were greatly enjoyed by all.

The score by innings was:
12th Inf. 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 4 1
Grayling 0 0 0 0 2 0 2 1 9 9 3
Batteries: for Grayling, Laurent and Johnson; for 12th Infantry, Stohl and Landerman.

Base on balls—off Stohl 1.
Three base hits: E. Westerhof 2.
Two base hits: Milnes, W. Laurent, Reynolds, Umphers, Duclos and Hoy.

SAME OLD STORY BUT A GOOD ONE.

Mrs. Maala Burns, Savana, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Diarrhoea Remedy, about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

CAUSE OF APPENDICITIS.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when you have a few doses of this remedy and keep your bowels regular. I have little to fear from appendicitis.
